

CLEMENCEAU HITS LEAGUE

EVERYBODY values most what he hasn't. Most educated men undervalue it. Men in poor or moderate circumstances commonly overvalue money.

Few rich men think it is worth much except as a means of buying what many poor men have without it. Its grossest form is the present wave of charity, from whose alleged discoveries men seek to buy back the passions of youth.

But on a higher scale, Rockefeller has sought by philanthropy and usefulness to buy back the esteem of his fellow men; Henry Ford would rather be a successful editor and publicist than to make another billion; others have sought, for many millions, to buy less prominence and power than the poorest senator has for nothing. Paderewski, great artist, sought to be a statesman; d'Annunzio, master of words, sought to be a member of armies; politicians quit office for business, and business men regard public life as a promotion.

A distinguished man, who had attained great success in his profession, made much money and held high office, said as death approached: "My life has been a failure; I have added nothing to the advancement of science."

The busy man longs for leisure, to read and write and travel.

The leisured man longs for activity, to accomplish visible results.

Perhaps they are all right. The whole is greater than any of its parts, and the aspiration to that which we have not, no matter how great that which we have, is the instinct of wholeness.

DISTANCE GLAMOR—You carry the center of things with you. Travel to the ends of the earth and you do not feel far away.

Where you are is "here." Go up in an airplane and you are not high up. The earth is far down. Get rich suddenly and it is the poverty of others that is strange. Old age is a distant and inconceivable calamity while you are young, but when it arrives it is so familiar that you do not even recognize it. You do not "feel old" because "old" has always been something peculiar and what you are is perfectly natural. And, finally, the reason why we do not shrink from death when it comes is doubtless because the thing that is here and near, just because we have arrived at it, in no wise suggests the vague and distant terror which we have called "death."

Everything is commonplace when it happens to us. All glamor is of distance. "I have come far," said the wanderer, "to seek the horizon mountains where the trees are blue, but evidently I have not reached them; these trees are green."

"Why come to the mountains to seek for blue foliage?" said the mountaineer. "You came yourself from the distant plains where the grass is blue."

OTHER ARMIES—Our army, now only 125,000 men, in the Continental United States is probably enough. It is the only army in the world smaller than the police forces of the nation which supports it. If the policemen of the United States should revolt and unite, they could conquer the United States army. Both army and police are useful, and are worth what they cost.

But how about the other army of 150,000 convicts in the prisons of the United States? We are feeding more criminals in penitentiaries than soldiers under arms. If the uncaught criminals are twice as numerous as the jailed ones, the criminals of the United States, if they could unite and had arms, could overcome the army and the police combined. They are a sheer waste, in prison. Doubtless many of them would be a worse waste outside.

But at any rate, our military establishment is the least part of our army of publicly supported non-producers.

NAMES 'OTHER WOMAN' IN DIVORCE TANGLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—The name of Lottie Frates, of Carmel-by-the-Sea, was formally brought into the Margaret Matzenauer-Floyd Glotzbach suit for divorce in Mme. Matzenauer's answer to her husband's complaint on file here today.

The opera singer charged in the answer that it was Mrs. Frates who was the cause of all her domestic troubles. She denies she had ever made any demand that her handsome chauffeur-husband act as her "personal maid," button her shoes, arrange her gowns or do any of the other things Glotzbach alleged she had required of him.

BARES DEATH THREAT IN DIVORCE ACTION

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—"There'll be another murder headline in the papers tomorrow, because I'm going to finish you tonight."

This was the threat of Frederick H. Sims to his wife, Mrs. Lynda Hall Sims, former La Porte, Ind., girl, according to her divorce complaint filed here.

Temporary alimony hearings in the case will come up before Judge Summerfield next Monday. Mrs. Sims declared that her husband, who is secretary of the Near East Relief here, called her a moron. She asks $250 a month alimony.

Big Realty Conclave Adjourns

MEET HELD GREATEST IN WEST

State Association Lauds Program Mapped Out by Boards of County

LAWS HAMPERING U. S. BUSINESS ASSAILED

Allow Supply and Demand to Solve Housing Jam, Brokers Urge

Declaring by resolution that the annual meeting here had been the most successful and the largest ever held in any state in the West, and expressing appreciation of the "signal program, enjoyable entertainment and general all round good time provided by Orange county boards for our delegates," the eighteenth annual convention of the California Real Estate association adjourned here today shortly after 12 p. m., to meet one year hence at Sacramento.

Realtors of the state were departing from the city with the highest praise for the cordial reception and hospitality extended by the city of Santa Ana, assisted by the Anaheim, Fullerton, Laguna Beach and Huntington Beach. They left here convinced that the convention had been one of the greatest possible profit to them.

The convention went on record as opposed to the hampering of business by too much and unnecessary national and state legislation when it adopted a resolution concerning interference with property rights and existing contracts, vigorously protesting against the laws attempting to regulate prices and to control contracts. The resolution declared the belief of the members of the association that if the law of supply and demand be permitted "to run its course the housing shortage will be promptly met with resulting low prices."

In brief, the resolutions approved the compact for division of the waters of the Colorado river between the upper and lower basins; complimented Edwin T. Keiser, real estate commissioner, for his action in organizing a farm land settlement association; endorsed the reclamation bill before congress; pledged the association to inauguration of a movement for the elimination of inheritances from taxation by the federal government, thus allowing individual states the full revenue from such taxes; favors drastic restriction of tax-exempt securities; and expressed appreciation of the work done by the officers of the association the past year, referring particularly to C. C. Tatum, retiring president, for the effective manner in which he carried forward the work during the past year. It was pointed out that Tatum has made personal visits to sixty boards in the state and had traveled 15,000 miles in carrying on the expansion program of the organization.

Reed Promises Action.

Fraser O. Reed, San Jose, who last night was elected by the new board of directors as president of the association, assumed the chair shortly before final adjournment. He promised his every energy and effort in behalf of the association, and asked for the full support of the members in making the organization a power for the advancement of the profession and the upbuilding of the state.

A brief discussion on the "Putting on of Subdivisions" preceded the report of the resolutions committee.

The final features of the convention were a luncheon at St. Ann's Inn at noon and a meeting of the board of directors at 2:30 p. m.

Co-operation Between the Lawyer and the Realtor? was the subject of a discourse at the luncheon by J. W. S. Butler, of Sacramento.

President of the California Bar association, the luncheon was in honor of officers and directors and was presided over by George J. Wren, a past president of the real estate association.

The new directors met at 5 p. m. yesterday and elected officers as follows:

Fraser O. Reed, San Jose, pres.

Girl Strips Patrolman Of Gun Handcuffs, Badge On Auto Ride

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—Police headquarters early today feared Patrolman T. A. Chambers had met with foul play, and started a search. He had been appearing as a court witness against a number of radicals.

Just as a detective squad was to be sent out to search for him, Chambers came to headquarters and explained. He said he had called up his girl late last night and taken her for a ride to Lonely Monteito Drive—where Alberta Meadows was murdered.

Finally the young lady wanted to go home. Chambers said that after an argument, he went to sleep. When he awoke it was past time for him to report and the young woman had departed. His star, handcuffs and gun were missing.

This morning a mail man found the missing articles in a downtown mail box.

IRISH REBEL THREAT SENT MILLIONAIRE

Free State Senator and Publisher Receives Death Warning From Government Foes.

DUBLIN, Dec. 9.—Martin Fitzgerald, a Free State senator, proprietor of the Freeman's Journal and millionaire horse breeder, was ordered today to leave Ireland immediately, on pain of death, in a communication from the "Irish Republican Army."

Free State leaders announced more executions are to follow the shooting of Rory O'Donnor and three others at Mountjoy yesterday, it is understood.

Southern Ireland, stunned by the suddenness of the Free State government's action in summarily executing the rebel prisoners as a reprisal, generally approved the act today.

British approval of the summary execution of yesterday's rebels was withheld but the extent to which the new government has been driven is appreciated fully.

HOLDS FATE OF SCHOOLS UP TO VOTERS

Late voters will decide the school bond election, P. L. Andrews, secretary of the board of education, said late today. He said: "Unless voters turn out before the polls close at 6 o'clock this evening in greater numbers than had visited the election booths up to 1 o'clock, the school bond proposal will be defeated."

"The vote was light and indifferent."

"Whatever you do, don't fail to vote."

That was the urgent request issued by the board of education today because, said its members, the fate of the school system of Santa Ana high school district rests in the balance waiting the outcome of the $400,000 school bond election.

"We have had half-day sessions at two Santa Ana schools this year," said J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools, "and if the bond election fails to carry today, there will be more schools hampered by half day sessions next year."

"The vote early today was very light," said P. L. Andrews, secretary of the board of education, "and prospects were not bright for a successful election. It is to be hoped that voters will show growing interest as the day progresses and register their decision at the polls."

"The bond election should carry. Santa Ana must have the new schools properly to fulfill its duty to the children of the city in providing adequate school facilities."

Voters were casting their ballots on two propositions today. One called for a $250,000 bond issue to provide funds for acquiring grounds and erecting a new junior high school in the southern part of the city. This proposition was being voted upon at all precincts within the Santa Ana high school district.

The second proposition called for a $150,000 bond issue to furnish assistance to the Greek navy within the city school district of Santa Ana.

The committee voted eleven to five for a favorable report on the measure. A minority report also will be filed by Senator Fletcher, Democrat, opponent of the measure.

SEEK CLARA IN BOOZE JOINTS

FIND DRUGS IN PASTOR'S WIFE'S BODY

Investigation Started by Relatives Results in Startling Discovery, Report.

GARY, Ind., Dec. 9.—Mrs. Clara Bothwell Cowley, 65 years old, wealthy bride, who came to her death after four months of married life with Rev. Griffith Cowley, Selon Springs, Wis., pastor, did not die of natural causes.

This was claimed today in a report of analysis of vital organs of the woman's body by Dr. W. J. McNally, sent to C. W. Yarrington, coroner's physician of Lake county today.

The analysis was made at the request of relatives of the woman who did not believe she had died of pneumonia, as stated in the death certificate of the attending physician.

Traces of drugs were found in the examination. Dr. McNally's report did not make public the character of the drugs and whether they were poisonous.

Mrs. Cowley died in August. She left an estate of approximately $100,000 to her husband.

CONGRESS TO SPEED WORK ON BILLS

Committees Ready to Begin Consideration of Harding Proposals

(United Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Congress today took initial steps to carry out the large legislative program outlined yesterday by President Harding, although it is realized that all the recommendations cannot be enacted at this session.

The legislative situation as the result of the president's address may be summarized as follows:

Taxation

The house ways and means committee will ask the rules committee next week to arrange to sandwich between appropriation bills resolutions for amending the constitution to prohibit tax exempt securities. Ways and means leaders hope to have the house adopt the resolution next Wednesday.

Rural Credits

In both houses the agriculture and banking and currency committees will tackle a mass of legislation and try to whip into shape a bill that will satisfy the farm bloc and the administration. In the house the Anderson bill, creating a farm credits department with $5,000,000 capital in each federal reserve bank, probably will be the basis of committee work.

Railroads

The president's recommendation for abolition of the railroad labor board and his other suggested legislative reforms in the transportation law will be considered by the house and senate interstate commerce committees at meetings to be held within a few days. If Harding's recommendation for a merger of the railroads into a few big systems, and for legislation to prevent strikes are insisted upon there can be no railroad legislation at this session. It is considered unlikely by leaders that, with the appropriation bills and other routine problems to attend to, congress will find time this winter to tackle the big controversial question of railroad legislation.

Immigration

The senate and house immigration committees will meet the coming week. While immigration is considered too large a question for satisfactory solution in the hustle of a short session, there will be much discussion of it. The house committee will have hearings on resolutions admitting war refugees from Turkey and Thrace. Harding's suggestion for registration of aliens would require treatment of some kind in the opinion of some of the committee members. Chairman Johnson of the house committee wants to reduce the present three per cent limit on immigration to 1.2 per cent.

Child Labor

The house judiciary committee probably will present a resolution amending the constitution to give congress power to prevent child labor.

Prohibition

The president's denunciation of violators of the Volstead act and the 18th amendment was expected to result in new legislative suggestions for enforcement. Leaders, however, said congress was not called on at this time to do anything about prohibition. After the president's conference with the governors, some legislative steps may be taken.

MONCRIEF SEEN AS JERNIGAN ASSISTANT

Serving to intensify interest in the political situation, insofar as it concerns the identity of the man whom Sheriff-elect Sam Jernigan will appoint as jailer, it was learned here today that Police Officer Orin Moncrief has been selected to hold the position of jailer, now held by Theo. Lacy, who, it is known, will not remain.

According to reports, Motorcycle Officer H. D. Jaynes is scheduled to be one of the assistant jailers.

Rumors Fly

Considerable uncertainty attaches to the filling of the office of under sheriff. According to rumors, neither denied nor confirmed by either, Jernigan plans to appoint Constable Jesse Elliott to the position.

Many expressed the opinion that E. E. French, whom E. Jackson recently dismissed as under sheriff, ostensibly to satisfy the supreme court ruling that county officers must operate under the 1917 legislative requirements, would resume his duties after January 8, when Jernigan assumes the chieftaincy, either as under sheriff or bailiff.

Motorcycle Officer O. K. Carr, candidate for the nomination as sheriff at the primaries, is also understood to be seeking the under sheriff's berth.

Not to Accept Offer

Mrs. Birdie Swanwick, present office deputy at the sheriff's office, will not accept re-appointment, she announced positively today.

Mrs. Grace Kittle, formerly stenographer in that office, now deputy in the office of the county clerk, has been tendered an offer to replace Mrs. Swanwick, it was known today. Mrs. Kittle announced her decision not to accept.

Deputy Sheriff Herman Zabel was understood to be a candidate for reappointment to his position as head of the bureau of identification. Although one other candidate, Charles J. Rozell, Orange, was understood to be making an effort to succeed him, rumor had it that Zabel would probably be re-appointed.

BUNCO GANG SECURES $500 ON OLD SCHEME

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—The "money making machine" has registered its first cash profit to the advance guard of winter bunco men who are coming to Southern California for the "winter clean up."

The age old scheme was as usual worked on a foreigner, this time William Kolakoski. The bunco artist sold him the machine to make $500 bills in large quantities for the modest sum of $500, he told the police. He bought the machine after seeing it turn out a bill, but it failed to work after he paid his money.

Envoys Under Heavy Police Guard as London Parley Opens

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Hundreds of detectives from Scotland Yard, some disguised as waiters and cooks, guarded Premier Poincare of France and Premier Mussolini of Italy at Clardidge's hotel today as the conference of allied premiers opened.

French secret service men were also on the job, hovering about Poincare, while Mussolini had brought with him a Fascisti bodyguard.

The meeting of the heads of governments of Britain, Italy, France and Belgium is described by American Ambassador Harvey as the most important since Versailles.

The initial program for the present conference was abandoned and the first session opened with the premiers described as "fencing for position," hoping to reach a general agreement.

The cause of the explosion is unknown. All wire communication with Suscon has been severed.

ASTORIA PLANS NEW CITY AS RUINS SMOKE

(United Press Leased Wire)

ASTORIA, Ore., Dec. 9.—Millions of dollars' worth of cash, jewelry and other valuables, lying in the ashes and debris here were unaccounted for last night and this morning.

Soldiers, sailors, national guardsmen and special policemen, all with orders to "shoot to kill any looters" have not reported a single case of attempted theft. One man, with automatic revolver in hand, has stood guard over a million dollars in gold and greenbacks ever since the heat abated sufficiently to allow him to approach his vault in the smoldering basement.

The incendiary theory was given still more basis today by a business man who claims a woman of questionable reputation told him that early Friday morning a lumberjack entered her room and said:

"I have set fire to the old town. You will see soon."

He turned and ran out and about fifteen minutes later the fire alarms shrieked their warning.

At 9 o'clock this morning looting citizens gathered at the court house for a "reconstruction" meeting. Although serious and determined there was no despair among the men, many of whose fortunes are practically wiped out. "We will build a better city," is the general determination.

Generally rumors are in circulation that several persons are missing. Several convivial parties in rooming houses of the lower class have been reported missing and it is said that some of the participants were too intoxicated to escape. None of these stories can be confirmed.

This morning the situation was as follows:

Two thousand people are homeless.

Ten days' ration for 2500 required and relief supplies which are arriving rapidly, are expected to cover the estimate.

Today's estimate of the loss places it at $12,000,000.

RELEASE BURCH AFTER PROBE ON SANITY

(United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—Arthur C. Burch was released from the county hospital today, freed of the charges of insanity filed against him following dismissal of the murder charges against him last week.

Burch was committed to the county hospital for observation as to his sanity. The order asking the investigation was made out by his attorney.

This afternoon, after regular court hours, Burch was brought into the courtroom by Judge Weyl, and after a short hearing and report, was released at 1:50 p. m.

Burch was tried three times for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy. Madalynne Obenchaia, also tried twice for the murder, was released last Monday.

SAVS PACT WILL NOT END WAR

Tiger Favors New Document to Replace Wilson Brain Child

SUPPORTS HARDING PEACE SUGGESTION

Monster Audience Cheers Attack on Versailles Document

(United Press Leased Wire)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9.—Georges Clemenceau, the "tiger" of France, today proposed the immediate opening of negotiations at Washington for an agreement between the United States and the other nations of the world that he indicated could take the place of the league of nations and return this country to the councils of Europe.

The old French statesman made this statement immediately after he had flatly declared to a great audience in the Academy of Music here that he did not believe in the league of nations as a means of preventing war.

His recommendation for the negotiations at Washington was based on President Harding's statement in his address to congress yesterday, suggesting that arrangements similar to the four power Pacific treaty of the arms conference could be made in other parts of the world.

Don't Believe It

"You have heard of the league of nations," said the Tiger as he was approaching the end of his speech. "I personally don't believe in it," he declared amid applause. Hastening to explain his statement, Clemenceau said:

"I don't believe that it can ever bring about an end of war. At the same time I believe that any effort to that end is good."

This statement was greeted with applause, perhaps more than followed the preceding one.

"I was greatly encouraged yesterday by this paragraph in the address of President Harding before congress," the speaker said. Then the Tiger told of the President's suggestion about the possibility of widening the four-power Pacific pact.

Praise for Harding

"That was a great, important and noble word to Europe," the Tiger said. "I don't think it would be wrong for people to expect to have a talk in Washington to see what can be done towards making satisfactory arrangements for the United States joining in the settlement of these questions."

The 81 year old French war premier is now on the last lap of his strenuous campaign to return America to the councils of Europe and his faithful valet, Albert, the Tiger was to leave her this afternoon for Cresson, Pa., to spend Sunday at the home of W. W. Atterbury, vice-president of the Pennsylvania railroad.

He will arrive at Cresson about midnight tonight and there high in the Allegheny mountains, he will enjoy a much needed rest, before leaving Sunday for Chicago to address a farmers' convention there Monday.

From Chicago, the Tiger will go to New York to make his last address in this country Tuesday night.

Tired out, he plans that same night to board the steamship Paris on which he will sail Wednesday for his beloved France.

RAIL TELEGRAPHERS SUFFER WAGE SLASH

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—Pay of 11,000 railroad telegraphers on eleven western railroads was cut $1,500,000 a year by a decision handed down by the United States railroad labor board today.

The decision was made at the request of the railroads to correct existing inequities in the pay of station and telegraph employees.

S. P. MAN GIVES BROKERS BIG MESSAGE

One of the outstanding features of the program of the annual banquet of the California Real Estate association at St. Ann's Inn here last night was a 1923 prophecy
by O. E. McCormick, vice president of the Southern Pacific Railroad company and a man prominent in big affairs.

With a droll humor, he captured his auditors with a series of catchy, original expressions and jokes.
When he launched into his address his auditors were ever keenly alert for his expressions as to what in his judgment, 1923 held in store.

He said:
"Once work was thought a curse. Then it came to us as a necessary evil, yesterday it dawned upon us that it is a blessed privilege, and today we know that work performed in the spirit of service is an act of worship."

"It is early recounted that it only took six days to manufacture
all the real estate and all the water that all the real estate men from then to now have handled; and it is further recounted that all the land was made in one day, and it was labeled "dry." And that label still sticks.

"Adam Smith said, 'All wealth is the result of labor applied to the land,' which certainly dignifies your calling. But it is now realized that labor applied to land requires intelligent supervision to make it effective. Brain power applied to land is just as necessary as labor. This country is looking to you and the near future for its application."

"Hex Heck says, 'The world is full of earnest people who are headed the wrong way—that Sing Sing is populated by people who thought they could get by with it, but didn't.' I say, so is here."

"The best thing done by the heal-ters in 1922 was their decision that deception will not be permitted by those authorized to handle this California land of ours and that they are to handle it honestly, with credit to themselves, and profit to the purchasers, or choose between the penitentiary and hell."

"For the balance of 1922, 1923, and for years to come, this most identified calling, your profession, shall only have for recognized members, when who will see to it that at least one business—the most important business of this state—
shall have a lot of religion in it;
As conveyed early by that great Chinese teacher and philosopher, confucius, who wrote the Golden Rule."

"The light of true religion seems to have been dimmed and the unity of the world to have been destroyed. What the world needs is a religion that is not renatured. And Confucius' injunction 'not to do unto others what you would not have them do unto you,' if closely followed, will make safe the pocketbook, and glad the heart of those we seek."

"The intending investor, and particularly the farmer, is looking to you for guidance and assistance in selection and investment. The cheerful looser may be a winner;
but the farmer has been the loser
so long that he is no longer cheerful."

"He has invested in farm property in the United States, $77,924, 100,336, while the capital invested in manufacturing industries is $44,569,000,000. The valuation, according to the interstate commerce commission, of all the railroads is $18,900,000,000. The total capital surplus and undivided profits of all banks in the United States is $6,544,949,924. The capital invested in all the coal mines is $2,345, 935,332. This makes the value of farms more than all the capital invested in other industries and in railroads, banks, and coal mines."

"Twenty-six per cent of the people in the United States in gainful occupations are working on the farms. And these should be more than 60 per cent."

"Farmers, though constituting more than thirty-one per cent of the population, receive only fifteen per cent of the national income."

"Food is primal and of all importance—transportation coming next. If the farmer stops or slackens up much, you and I are going

Here is the way O. E. Mc-

According to Bert Moses, a

not by the number of words
he gets out of a gallon of ink,
but by the intellectual mileage he covers. I say so to the speakers.

I'm wise to the fact that a little in his own country, and in his own house.

Is there any profit in prophecy?

apprehensions for the future.
Troubles that do not happen worry us more than those that do.

We still have enough left of 1922 to score a touchdown before 1923's game begins.

I am quite willing to deal with 1923 but we are not to lose sight of the 23 days that remain in 1922: So we make

"The Eastern situation for 1923 promises further hardship for the farmer. Many, many of them should be attracted here, saving them forty-five per cent of their energy from the summer's heat,
and fifty per cent from the cold
of winter."

"Let us get more of them here, where they are already broad and inviting acres awaiting them."

"For 1923, we have to offer to those who seek the city life, two of the best big ones on earth—
San Francisco with its ever increasing wealth and beauty or building, estimated for 1923 to far exceed wonderful 1922; and Los Angeles, estimated for 1923 to exceed the $100,000,000 of 1922. With projects in the way of attraction for pleasure, or investment, from Arrowhead lake as a mountain resort, to Palos Verdes by the Sea
—to say nothing of the valley country immediately north and west of San Francisco, and the urban territory in Los Angeles vicinity."

"I hope, pray and prophecy for each and every one of you and yours, all the blessings that can come with a happy, well New Year!"

FURNITURE ARRIVES FOR 'JACKET' PLAY

Trucks filled with Chinese furniture and properties arrived at the Temple theater today to complete the scenery for the production of "The Yellow Jacket" to be given here next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday by the Santa Ana Community Players.

Everything is ready for the first performance. Director Ernest Crozier Phillips expressed himself as most pleased with the manner in which rehearsals had gone and is looking forward to one of the greatest triumphs achieved by the local organization.

Dress rehearsals in the costumes secured for the production produced an ensemble effect that even exceeded the hopes of the producers. Dazzling in their true Oriental splendor, the multi-colored garments, head dresses and fans struck a real picture.

The old and new members who go to make up the cast have carefully drilled and rehearsed until the real touch of the professional is visible as they appear on the stage.

Hazel Johnson, who plays the role of Plum Blossom (Moy Fah Loy), the heroine of the play, has proved a find for the Community Players.

HOSPITAL FUND SUBSCRIPTION NOW $54,350

The luncheon-rally of the Santa Ana Valley Hospital association yesterday intensified the rivalry between the teams, known as the "Blues," "Reds" and "Greens," made up of the physicians who are sponsoring the new hospital project. The "Blues" turned in subscriptions totalling $3,750 which put them in the lead. The total reported for the first week of December was $7,350, making a grand total to date of $54,350 subscribed.

Much enthusiasm was manifested by the twenty-five physicians present and plans were outlined for continued personal work in preserving this community proposition to friends and patients for co-operation. December has been made local hospital month and those interested have adopted the slogan,
"$50,000 in subscriptions during December." A luncheon-meeting will be held next Friday at the Cat 'N' Fiddle cafe when further reports on the campaign for funds will be made.

The meeting yesterday was enlivened by interesting accounts of the experiences of the doctors in obtaining subscriptions.

"All agreed that there was no question about obtaining the total fund required if the busy physicians continue to set aside time to follow up their prospects," A. B.
Wastell, financial director, said.
"The residents of the Southern

Bryan's Weekly Talk

By William Jennings Bryan

The two brief passages from Luke that give us the text for today's Bible talk present two distinct and dissimilar incidents in the life of the Saviour.

The first tells us of a visit to a home in which Christ was a frequent and welcome guest.

It was the home of Martha and Mary—sisters, who evidently were quite unlike, as children of the same family often are.

Mary, the most spiritual one of the two, sat at the feet of Jesus, absorbed in His word.

Martha, who seemed to be more practical—in the sense in which the word "practical" is used by those who place a light estimate upon sentiment—was "troubled" about much serving. Her question would indicate a little irritation:

"Dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to serve alone? Bid her therefore that she help me."

"The Good Part"

Martha was engaged in a very necessary work, that of the care of the house, and if Luke's account would indicate, she had less appreciation of the supernatural in Christ, it is not strange that she was vexed at Mary's seeming indifference to the extra burden thrown upon her by the entertainment of their visitor.

Biblical scholars have suggested that Martha was determined to provide a fine dinner, and that she was especially anxious on this occasion that the meal should be the best possible.

Christ, who had taken advantage of so many previous opportunities to present a truth, seized upon this one to teach a very important lesson—a lesson that the world sorely needs at this very hour.

"Martha, Martha," said Christ, "thou art careful and troubled about many things; but one thing is needful; and Mary hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken from her."

A Social Burden

If in that day Martha was so engrossed in the preparation of a tempting meal as to complain of Mary's devotion to the Master, what shall we say of present day society?

The kindly rebuke administered to Martha might well be administered to all hosts who in our time put the accent upon the food rather than upon the spirit of hospitality that lies back of the gathering.

The entertainment of friends has become a social burden, because the true spirit of friendship has been quenched by worldliness. If hospitality means anything, the food should be incidental to fellowship, and not the principal thing to be thought of.

Of what real value is a social gathering if, for days before its occurrence, the hostess must spend her time in hunting up new dishes and making the home radiant with flowers, and, for days afterward, devote herself to putting the house in order, all the time wondering if the affair was a success?

Rivalry That Kills Pleasure

Rivalry in sumptuousness and extravagance has robbed entertainment of its pleasure and inspiration. If each dinner must be more costly and more attractive than the one of which it is a return, if new dresses must be prepared because every one else is making special preparation, the whole purpose of these interchanges of courtesy is defeated.

Formality crowds out the real and the sincere. Many young married people live beyond their means in their effort to keep up appearances; they try to repay social courtesies with entertainments as lavish or more lavish. Each new display of wealth and vanity sets a new mark and compels a more exhausting effort.

About 20 years ago, Charles Wagner gave to the world a little book entitled "The Simple Life." It was an eloquent protest against the materialism that is making man the servant of his possessions—it was a plea for the resurrection of manhood and womanhood, for the supremacy of the individual over his surroundings.

The Dependently Rich

Just as life is infinitely more important than all the inanimate world about us, so the independence of the individual is more important than the giving of pleasure to the sensual and to worship of the god of fashion.

How much money can one honestly earn? Only so much as fairly measures the value of the service that he renders. How much should he desire to collect? No more than he can wisely spend.

We speak of people being "independently rich." It is a misleading phrase; they are often dependently rich. They are dependent on a multitude of the things which they make essential to their happiness; dependent upon a multitude for personal service and attention which they have made necessary to their enjoyment, and dependent upon new and morbid excitements to break the monotony of existence. Their thoughts are absorbed in the vanities of life and their time is wasted upon trifles.

The Mire of Material Things

The teachings of Christ, if they will but give heed, will lift them out of the mire of material things up to the heights where they can survey the things worth while. Mary chose the "good part" in her devotion—the part that cannot be taken from one.

Society would experience a real reform and take a long step in advance if it would permit the Master to fashion the intercourse between friends so that the coming together of neighbors and acquaintances, instead of giving rise to heart burning and envy, would be remembered for the glow of congenial companionship and the communion of kindred spirits.

The second part of our text shows another side of Christ's life. He was as tender as a woman when He dealt with minor sins and the errors that grow out of ignorance, but His rebukes were masculine in their strength when He brought face to face with gross inconsistency and false pretense!

Forgetting God For Form

"Woe unto you, Pharisees!" the words cannot be uttered with mildness. Gentle persuasion was not sufficient for these habitual offenders—they needed a rod. "Ye tithe mint and rue and all manner of herbs, and pass over judgment and the love of God."

Christ often employed antithesis. He here contrasted the observing of things insignificant with the ignoring of things of supreme importance. He exposed the littleness of the tinsel philosophy of those who think to please God with formality and observance of the letter of the law; He compared this with the righteousness of those who are true to the spirit. What are mint and herbs when put in the scale against justice and the love of God?

Christ did not counsel the abolition of all formality. Formality has its place if it is the outward form of real inward worship. "These (the great things) ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone." These are significant words.

A Word to Non-Churchgoers

Sometimes one is heard to say that he does not regard going to church as necessary; that he worships in the woods; that he does not pray at certain times, but prays all the time. Those who in such language condemn formality and boast of a superior devotion should read the words above quoted.

While the mere attendance at church may be of no value, if one does not enter into the spirit of worship, there is no reason why one should substitute worship outside for worship in God's house.

Christianity teaches addition rather than substitution. Worship is possible at any time and anywhere; but those who worship inside of the church usually worship outside also, while those who claim to substitute outside worship for church worship often neglect to worship anywhere.

Christ's Rebuke of the Vain

And so those who attempt to substitute occasional prayer for prayer at stated periods are apt to grow into the habit of not praying at all.

We ought to do both the formal things and the things informal; we should not pass over either the small things or the great things; a Christian life is large enough to include both. Christ next rebuked the vain—those who love the chief seats in the synagogues and salutations in the market places.

In the course of His ministry Christ applied His philosophy in many different directions. The scribe administered to the Pharisees is directed at a very permanent sin—viz., self importance. It could not but be offensive to Christ, who, though supreme in merit, set His followers an example in humility.

Pride has no place in Christianity. One who desires the prominence which the Pharisees so much loved has yet to learn the spirit of the Master. He put the emphasis upon service to others rather than upon the attracting of attention.

Proof of Christ's Deity

No wonder the Pharisees were irritated by His rebukes; no wonder that they began to urge him vehemently, and to provoke him to speak of many things; laying wait for him and seeking to catch something out of His mouth. But the more questions they put to Him, the more completely were they routed.

And yet we have some, calling themselves Christians, who say that Christ was but a man. Strange that they should think one able to confound all the wise His claim to Messiahship is established. He came to save the world and His example can be followed without fear.

Orange County W.C.T.U. In Executive Session At Garden Grove

Meeting in executive session in the beautiful new Methodist church at Garden Grove, the Orange County W. C. T. U. held a most interesting celebration Thursday in honor of the passage of the Wright bill.

Mrs. Estelle Harper, county president, called the meeting to order at 10 o'clock a. m. with sixty representatives from the different county organizations present. All local unions were thus represented with the exception of Huntington Beach.

Mrs. Chaffee led the devotions and the Rev. Mr. Silkwood led in prayer, after which the different superintendents reported on work being done in their departments. Mrs. J. N. Anderson spoke on legislation and urged that all members interested in the passage of certain bills, write their views as concisely as possible to their representatives.

"Women in Industry" was the topic of an able paper by Mrs. J. H. Scott.

Mrs. Thomas reported the complete success of the mother's booth maintained by the union at the county fair and Mrs. Crissman exhibited a complete layette with which the Social Service league comes to the aid of mothers in homes in need.

In discussing the prizes awarded fifth and sixth grades last year for successful essays, Mrs. Childers expressed the hope that similar essays would be written this year. She also spoke of charts which she will place in schools of the county as they are needed.

Mrs. Jones advocated the use of the Bible in public schools, declaring it to be the sole way many children have of learning anything of the Scriptures, as so small a percentage of them attend Sunday school.

A number of other superintendents gave splendid talks. The Rev. W. M. Harkness, pastor of the Wesleyan church, led in noontime prayer.

The ladies of the Garden Grove W. C. T. U. had prepared a dinner for the executives which was served in the dining room of the church at tables decorated with bright poinsettias. After dinner many enjoyed the privilege of looking over the beautiful church, so recently completed, and declared that it would be credit to a much larger community.

The president called the afternoon session to order at 1:30. Mrs. Annie Lash led the devotional service on "Victory," which opened the jubilation program of the afternoon. The trio teams of the county and local unions composed of president, secretary and treasurer, came forward and gave their slogan:

"We are the trio teams of the W. C. T. U.
We are starting out to dare and do,
To get new members to belong,
Until we number one thousand strong."

The afternoon was given over to the presidents of the local unions who gave talks on how their unions had a part in helping the Wright law to pass; also as to the plans for raising their budget, the membership and the work in general. The following presidents gave this interesting program: Mrs. T. Walker, Anaheim; Mrs. Emma Blancher, El Modena; Mrs. Carrie Ford, Fullerton; Mrs. Nellie Amos, Garden Grove; Mrs. Mabel Frost, Orange; Mrs. J. H. Scott, Santa Ana; Mrs. C. A. Miller, Tustin; and Mrs. Mabel Tuffree, Placentia.

Several of the Garden Grove Union high school students furnished special music. Miss Katherine Kirven favored with two violin numbers. They were accompanied by Miss Thornburg, supervisor of music.

Mrs. Howerton of Placentia, spoke on the L. T. L. work. The white ribbon was tied on the wrist of little Margaret Butler, granddaughter of Mrs. Nora Davis by Mrs. Harper.

The meeting was closed by singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

"Bringing Up Mother" Successfully Done At Junior High

If mothers of the members of Every Girl's club of Junior High school were not expert home-makers, physical culturists, better babies and trained dieticians today, it was not the fault of their daughters, for the latter bent every effort toward "bringing up mother" properly, last night at the school building.

Originality and ingenuity marks the various affairs given at Junior high school, but last night's offering reached a level not before touched, according to approximately 200 appreciative mothers and an equal number of satisfied daughters.

As the guests gathered they registered in the office and were each assigned to a certain room with registered cards duly stamped with the school seal by Principal H. G. Nelson. In the first room, under the careful questioning of Miss Fannie M. Pease, their moral qualities were investigated with rigid tests for honesty and character. An average test question was "What are the moral effects of leap-frog?"

In the social science room the Misses Lucy Carter and Arvilla Ball presented a "Colonial Conference" by school pupils in costume, during which the mothers were required to memorize and repeat the Declaration of Independence which sounded strangely like "Mary had a little lamb."

Attempts to follow volatile instructions in French and Spanish led close to the edge of disaster in the language room presided over by the Misses Agnes Campbell and Albra Smart, while in the domestic science department under Miss Bessie McCord and Mrs. Ethel Sinks, each "student" was carefully weighed, and if over weight (i. e. 125 pounds) was considered in a dangerous condition and instructed regarding a diet of milk. Lectures and charts galore were in this department, and refreshments of home-made cookies and iced milk were served each class.

Mathematical tests presented by the Misses Thrasher and Mary Henderson were given and applied to the solution of many problems, among them, to prove that 6 plus five equalled 9 and 12 divided by 2 equalled 6.

In the English department directed by Mrs. Nettie Wolfe, all are required to name the books represented by many groups of girls in clever burlesques on titles, but it remained for the science department to present something strictly blood-curdling—an operation.

The operation was in silhouette and the breathless audience watched the masterly use of a butcher knife, a huge saw, a mallet and various other surgical instruments and the removal of a terrific specimen of taenia solium from the anesthetized patient who, in fifteen minutes was pronounced by the operating "surgeons," Miss Annie Anderson and Joella Sharp, to be a "totally cured" human being, thus proving the excellence of present day scientific methods!

Unexcelled practice in typing their own names was given the students in the business department under the instructions of Miss Bertha Briney and Miss Olive Wherry while paper cutting instructions were given in the fine arts room with Miss Hazel Bemus and Miss Edith Cornell in charge.

Miss Edith Gillette showed the proper method of powdering noses in a series of splendid callisthenics in the physical education department, illustrating the subject with a group of girls equipped with vanity cases like small trunks.

Of course the program of "studies" was interspersed with punishment and rewards. An occasional, insubordinate mother was requested to go to Principal Nelson's room not to return until she sent a note. Others were required to wear dunce caps or take their places in the corner or on a high stool. Chewing gum and paper wads were indulged in by a few more reckless mothers, but such wild spirits were soon quelled and the end of the evening saw the mothers properly brought up to be pillars of society.

goes to Mrs. Iva M. Webber, dean of girls and vice-principal of Junior high. The plan was presented to a committee composed of Mrs. Earl Morris, Mrs. Neal Beisel, Mrs. Everett A. White and the president of the P. T. A. Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, representing the mothers of the association and to Miss Hazel Bemus, Miss Annie Anderson and Mrs. Ethel Sinks of the teachers. With their aid and that of the entire staff of teachers, Mrs. Webber completed the plans which will go down in Junior high history as being the gayest, friendliest event of the year.

In decorations, the club colors of yellow and white were used, with yellow shades over all lights. Poinsettias and Christmas colors were used in the Domestic Science room with many Christmas posters. To the girls of the art department under Miss Bemus, goes the credit for the artistic decorative effects in each room.

The three executive board members named were Mrs. Mary Crissman, Mrs. Mae J. Palmer and Mrs. L. N. Wollaston while Mrs. Helen Nelson was named as a member of the Orange county executive board.

Warm Congratulations Accorded Group of Birthday Celebrants

An unusual birthday celebration was that held Thursday, December 7, when Mr. and Mrs. Claude Norton entertained at their home, 612 East Washington street, with three members of the family to receive birthday honors.

Mr. Norton, the host, was one of the three, while the highest honors were paid Mrs. Cynthia Norton, mother of the host, and of E. B. Collier, the second of her sons to have the same birthday as herself.

An elaborate dinner on family was served at 6 o'clock and needless to say, a beautiful birthday cake occupied the center of the table where covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Claude Norton, Mrs. Cynthia Norton, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Collier, Miss Helen Norton and Claude Norton, Jr.

A happy evening of music and conversation followed during which wishes for many more such pleasant family celebrations were warmly expressed.

De Molay Chapter

Instituting a series of pleasant social affairs, the young men of the recently instituted De Molay chapter, will make their debut as hosts on Saturday night, December 16, when they plan to entertain at a dancing party at Masonic temple.

The idea, in the social affairs, is to combine hospitality with business and in entertaining their friends, earn money at the same time, to buy the necessary regalia of the order, which is entirely new to be burdened with an excess of money in the treasury.

Sponsored by the Masonic fraternity and inspired by the friendliness of all kindred organizations, the young men of the chapter will no doubt meet with an enthusiastic response to the invitations they are so cordially issuing, and a happy evening is anticipated for the initial event. Details will be completed and committees named at an early date.

Hollywood"OH LOOK" COMES TO YOST
NEXT WEDNESDAY

Elizabeth Reed, one of the most talented of the bevy of show girls in "Oh Look," the glittering musical comedy which comes to the Yost theater Wednesday night, December 13, with Harry Fox as the star, has been acclaimed as a prize beauty. She has been only a short while before the footlights, but in that time she has attracted so much attention by reason of her grace and charm that she was recently induced to enter a contest for a position in the movies at Hollywood.

Pantomime, a New York motion picture publication, offered a series of prizes to the prettiest girls of the stage whose attractiveness might have a screen value and whose ability was such that they might be expected to bring them success.

Miss Reed was the winner of one of the first four engagements contained in the offer, being unanimously accorded the prize by reason of her exceptional fitness. Previous theatrical engagements have thus far prevented the talented young woman from going to work in the studios, but she insists that she will be there before long, although she could hardly be spared from among the stately girls of "Oh Look."

The combination of auburn hair and brown eyes with a wonderful complexion have given to Miss Reed her unusual beauty. Strange to say she lives, when projected in Paris the atmosphere and backgrounds were so true to the environs of the city that it was hard for the Parisian to believe that it was produced anywhere but their home city. But such was not the case. The picture was produced on the west coast with Earle Williams and Rodolph Valentino in the stellar roles.

The sets were constructed after famous resorts in Paris and even the street scenes were duplicates of those in France. Touches of the Parisian night life are revealed in the sequences and a famous cafe in the Latin Quarter was copied for the Cafe d'Or, in which Rodolph Valentino does his famous Apache dance.

SHIRLEY MASON ON YOST
SCREEN MONDAY

What promises to be one of the leading pictures of the season will be seen when "The New Teacher," a William Fox production, starring Shirley Mason, comes to the Yost theater Monday night. Miss Mason, while only a youngster, is one of the most lovable persons appearing on the silver screen.

Preliminary notices of her new play say that she will enact the role of a society girl who becomes a school teacher when the family fortune dwindles. This is the type of role that Miss Mason should do exceedingly well, and is most after her own heart.

Fox was desirous of making the picture one the little star's best and he surrounded her with an exceptionally able cast. Earl Metcalfe and Alan Forrest are two of the best actors in the Fox studio and they Pat Moore is one of the leading child actors on the screen.

The picture should be a big success.

COLORED COMEDIAN STARS
IN OWEN MOORE PICTURE

"Love Is An Awful Thing," the film feature at the Yost theater tonight and tomorrow, has a cast of expert farceurs headed by Owen Moore. The star has achieved unusual success in "The Poor Sim," "The Chicken in the Case," and "Reported Missing." His chief aid in this current picture is Douglas Carter, the colored comedian who is being hailed as another Bert Williams. Also in the cast of this latest Selznick picture is the internationally famous Snitz Edwards. The feminine contingent includes Marjorie Daw, Kathryn Perry and Charlotte Mineau.

"WHEN THE DESERT CALLS"

From bank cashier to sheik is the amazing jump in the fortunes of the hero in "When the Desert Calls," a Ray C. Smallwood Pyramid picture, which shows for the last time at the West End theater tonight.

day, while making scenes for "The Sin Flood," her latest photoplay. While there were plenty of dry clothes about, nobody offered comfort or assistance. She was left to stand dripping rivulets, until the sun dried her.

That's not as hard-hearted as it seems, even though it is the actual truth. In this startling Goldwyn picture, coming to the Yost theater for three days, commencing next Thursday, Miss Chadwick plays a part wherein she is rained on, soaked through and through, then shut up in a water tight room for three days. She had no change of clothing, so of course her clothes dry on her, and, says she, "We might have faked it, except that the suit I wear is soft silk, and if it actually dried on me, it would shrink to the lines of my figure. If we dried it on the line, it wouldn't. So I had to play clothes line, because realism is the thing in pictures now."

"WEST OF CHICAGO" OPENS
AT WEST END TOMORROW

The new Fox production, "West of Chicago," starring Charles Jones, has, according to advanced reports, several outstanding features which are sure to make this photoplay a big success.

One of these is Charles Jones' leap from a horse to the platform of an observation car while the train is in motion, a feat requiring a great deal of daring and agility, and which is certain to cause a thrill to the most blasé audience.

In another there is a no less exciting scene, but with a comic turn to it. Jones, troubled by some men who are up to sundry crooked acts, determines to put the fear of God into their souls. To accomplish this he dresses the part of a ghost, and waylaying the lawbreakers on a lonely road at night, causes them to do a marathon that would put the world's best runners to shame.

The Mexican border, with all its romantic surroundings, furnishes the background for the story.

"West of Chicago" will begin a two day run at the West End theater tomorrow.

HITS PRISONER HERE

John Doyle, the self-styled "man with the million-dollar head of hair," serving a 30-day sentence in the county jail for vagrancy, became afflicted with a mania for fly catching.

In the parlance of the jail, he went "koo-koo." He told his fellow prisoners that his elegant hair was due to a wonderful tonic of his own invention, and that he was to make a fortune selling it. He entertained them with songs and dances of his own invention.

Today, it was no more. He was in the psychopathic ward of the county hospital, for observation.

DEFER DECISION ON FLAHERTY SUCCESSOR

Decision in naming the successor to R. D. Flaherty, secretary-manager of the farm bureau, will be made at a special meeting of the board of directors to be held Thursday at 2 p. m. It was learned today. The meeting Thursday afternoon failed to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion, it was understood.

FINANCIAL REVIEWTrading In Rails Results In Sharp Advance In New Haven Issue

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Today's stock market principally occupied itself with adjusting the general industrial list to a basis more nearly approximating the level established this week by the speculative leaders.

Baldwin, Studebaker and other recent favorites were strong in opening dealings, but afterward moved irregularly, while the chief interest was devoted to some of the lower priced oils, coppers, motors and tires which have been backward earlier in the week.

Bullish demonstrations were also staged in specialties like National Lead and Allied Chemical. Trading in rails was featured by a sharp advance in New Haven.

The market closed irregular. Closing prices included: U. S. ORANGES PLENTIFUL
ON S. S. MARKET

(United Press Leased Wire)
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—Oranges are very plentiful now and selling from $3 to $4.50 per box. Consumers should find the retail price of oranges very reasonable at this time and might well eat more liberally of them.

Navel oranges are the eastern market, which is effecting lower prices at shipping points. It is the intention of dealers and shippers to get prices down to a point that will stimulate movement and consumption. Lemons also are 50 cents lower and fancy stocks are selling from $7 to $8 per box.

Southern lemons are holding very firm. Southern crates of four baskets are selling from $1.50 to $1.75 each while jugs are bringing $1.75 to $2.50 each.

Another car of southern iced lemons arrived on this market. Best southern lettuce is selling from $3.25 to $3.50 per crate.

Supplies of light, pineapples, plums, peaches, berries, figs, melons, grapes, cabbage, beans, summer squash, cauliflower, rhubarb, etc., are plentiful and in very liberal demand at prices ranging from 4 to 5 1/2 cents per pound.

There is very little activity in poultry. Fancy large colored hens are selling lower at prices ranging from 26 to 28 cents a pound.

MOLLA SEEKS COURT
TILT WITH SUZANNEYankee Champion Entitled
To Another Chance at French Girl, Claim

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Paving the way for what would undoubtedly be the greatest match of the age between women tennis players, inquiries were sent to Suzanne Legien's weak heart is coming along.

If the French champion is able to play tournament tennis, Molla Mallory is going to stalk the elusive Suzanne and her title up and down the Riviera early next year.

The Norse woman, American champion, defeated by Suzanne at Wimbledon in a decisive match for the world's championship, considers she is going out for a legitimate "rubber" match, since she beat the French girl at Forest Hills in 1921.

The match, if it is arranged, should be closer and harder fought than either of the others. Molla Lengien broke down coughing at Forest Hills; Molla was off her game in England. If they meet again the American will have a better chance than before.

Suzanne has quite lately gone back, through lack of fast competition. Her weakened heart, which led her father to make her stop playing in championships after the Wimbledon matches might hamper her at any time it she met Mrs. Mallory.

Molla will probably be just as good as ever. She thrives on hard work and years of competition have only improved her court generalship and uncanny eye for the base line.

Tennis fans would like to see the two women champions meet at least once more, for the feeling prevails that Mrs. Mallory has a better game of tennis to bring to a pinch than she displayed at Wimbledon.

Eddie Linsbard
Named Captain of 1923 Poly Eleven

EDDIE LINSBARD

Eddie Linsbard, who alternated with Rolland Stillens at center on "Spud" Morrison's Orange league championship team during the past season, will captain in the Santa Ana high school football eleven next fall.

Linsbard, regarded as one of the best grid prospects that ever attended the local institution, was unanimously elected to the position yesterday afternoon when members of this year's team, who were recently voted monograms by the high school board of control, held a meeting.

Although this was his first year on the varsity squad, Linsbard put up a great battle for a position and was one of Morrison's most capable linemen.

He is a junior at the local school and with a little more weight is expected to become one of the best linemen ever developed here. Popular both in the classroom and on the football field with his fellow players Linsbard should make an ideal captain.

SANTA ANA CASEYS

PLAY ELIMINATION
NET GAMES AT POLY

An elimination tournament for the purpose of determining who shall compose the Santa Ana high school boys' tennis team is in progress now and is causing considerable comment among the students.

John Cress, the star of last year and the undefeated star of this year's round robin tournament, stands out as the best material for the team. Clifford Marston, of last year's team, is ineligible this year. Randolph Bell is the only other man of team experience.

Cress and Bell are expected to take their berths on the team and the other places will be filled from the entrants in the elimination tournament.

Those entered are Jewell, Bell, Martin, Preble, Beisel, Bell, Gray, Wardrip, Head, Romo, Smith, Rodriguez, Yale, Tuthill, Marston and Harding.

A practice tournament will be played with Anaheim next week in which the local men will have a chance to show how they stack up for the county tournament in the spring.

TWO LEADING CLUBS OF HARBOR LEAGUE
ON EDGE FOR CRUCIAL GAME TOMORROWUndeclared El Modena Aggregation Faces Irvine
Team; Harry Blacholder's Garden Grove Outfit Begins Season; S. A. Legion Plays at Home

Baseball fans will watch with keen interest the work of the Garden Grove team against El Toro tomorrow. It will be Garden Grove's first engagement in the Harbor league this year. The Grove men annexed the championship last winter and despite a late entry believe they can repeat.

Harry Blacholder, star young hurler of the Salt Lake Bees in the Pacific Coast league, will manage the Garden Grove aggregation. He probably will be stationed at first base, allowing a younger brother to work out on the mound.

El Toro ranks third in the league standing at present and should be able to make things mighty interesting for Blacholder and his fence buster. The game will be played at El Toro.

Legion Meets Newport
The team of the Santa Ana Post, No. 131, American Legion, will play its second fray of the season at its home grounds on West Fifth street just west of the Pacific Electric car tracks. The tail-end Newport club will be the opposition. Newport has had some tough luck this season but the members of the club figure they are due to get started against the Legionnaires.

Two weeks ago Charlie Way and his gang threw a million thrills into the Irvine camp by scoring fourteen runs when the two clashed. Irvine managed to squeeze out a victory by a one run margin.

With George Braeholder in the box, the Tustin K. P. club will take on the Van Dien-Young nine of Santa Ana on the Tustin grounds. Blacholder showed his stuff last Sunday when he set Irvine down with two lone hits and trounced that club for the first time this season. The Van Dien-Youngs have a scrappy, hard-hitting club with a clever twirler, Vic McKenzie, and they figure to do a lot of things to the K. P. men.

PLAN TO DRILL MESA WELL TO DEEP LEVEL

The Interstate Oil company has resumed work on the Morris well at Costa Mesa, it was learned here today. Drilling on this well was stopped at about 3400 feet last spring. Since that time deep production at Huntington Beach and the good showing at 4090 feet in the Fairview well lead many to believe that the deep sands will be found to extend as far east as Newport Bay.

The Morris well is situated on the western edge of the mesa two miles east of the Standard's Pacific No. 1A, on land owned by Mrs. Mary Banning Morris.

The Interstate Oil company has not announced how deep it intends to carry this well, but it is reasonable to suppose that it will be drilled to at least 4500 feet unless production is secured before that depth is reached.

The Costa Mesa area has been pretty well prospected down to 3000 feet and some oil has been found in nearly every well, but the success of deep drilling in other fields near the coast has revived a lively interest in this field.

APIARISTS ARE TOLD WINTER CARE OF BEES

There is urgent need for better care of bees during the winter, beekeepers of Orange county were told today at a meeting being held at the farm bureau headquarters here.

Henry Perkins of Los Angeles was among the bee experts who were to talk to the beekeepers this afternoon. The presence of the experts drew attendance of the apiarists from all parts of the county. H. E. Wahlberg, farm advisor, also was to speak.

Perkins was to discuss queen bee treating and to demonstrate the process of transferring queen cells. Other phases of the industry were assigned to speakers particularly interested in their subject matter.

MAN AND WIFE ARE BOTH ELECTROCUTED

PITTSBURGH, Calif., Dec. 9.—George Montgomery, 45, and his wife were shocked to death in their garage here last night when Montgomery turned on an electric light while standing in a pool of water, and Mrs. Montgomery attempted to rescue him.

Montgomery was apparently almost instantly killed, but Mrs. Montgomery pulled away from him and walked to the door of the garage before expiring. Mrs. Mortimer, a neighbor, rushed to the garage and found Montgomery's clothing ablaze. She extinguished the fire with a bucket of water and then called a doctor, who pronounced the Montgomerys dead.

Christian Brothers, local distributors for the Maxwell and Chalmers, today were anticipating the showing here next week of the two new creations of the Maxwell factory, the Maxwell sport roadster and touring models, following announcement last night that the machines would be available next week.

The local Maxwell organization was present last night at a dinner given by the Union Motor company, California distributors for the two makes, held at their agency in Los Angeles, at which the new models were shown and announcement was made of a revision in prices amounting to reductions of $10 and $15. The reductions are the result of freight charge revisions.

Those going from here were Frank and Guy Christian; Ralph McCune, shop foreman; Glenn Jones, salesman; G. L. Purdon, bookkeeper, and E. L. Richardson, vice president of the American National Bank.

Saunders was quoted as saying that in the face of short selling by brokers he had cornered the Piggly Wiggly market and was going to demand delivery of his purchases.

SERRA DETOUR IS PASSABLE, AFTER SAND TREATMENT

Motorists Wishing to Visit San Diego May Proceed Safely

STATE SANDS HIGHWAY

Hope to Complete New Road Within Next Few Weeks

Motorists who are desirous of visiting San Diego and Tia Juana need feel no hesitancy in attempting to detour near San Juan Capistrano, according to Walter Congdon, garage proprietor in the mission town.

"The Serra detour," said Congdon, "is slippery, in places, but it is passable. There is absolutely no danger, as far as touring cars are concerned, and careful drivers can make the detour in fairly good time."

State is Busy
"It is true that the detour was bad, during the first rain, but since that time the state has been busy with trucks and laborers."

"The state road builders have dumped large quantities of sand on the worst sections of the road, and this has reduced the danger of skidding."

"We have on an average of 40 or 42 trucks traversing this road daily and, so far as I know, only one or two have had trouble."

"Last night one truck, which tried to make the detour in the dark, went into the ditch."

"Will Rush Work
"With good weather conditions, it is possible the road builders will complete the new road within three weeks. At present, the road is finished, as far as some of the sections are concerned, with the exception of the shoulders."

"They are permitting motorists to use the highway, in order to eliminate danger on the detour."

Motor Dealers' Craft To Hold Meeting Here On Friday Night

Members of the motor dealers' craft of the Orange County Automobile Trades association were advised today by Herbert O. Davis, secretary, that the monthly meeting of the craft would be held Friday evening at the Cherry Blossom here, instead of Thursday evening, the regular meeting date.

Postponement was made because a number of the Santa Ana dealers are members of the Kiwanis club and will attend the big social meeting of the club to be held at St. Ann's Inn Thursday evening. A number of matters of importance are scheduled to come up at the session of the craft and a large attendance is anticipated.

'CAREFUL DRIVING' TERM EXPLAINED BY AUTO CLUB OFFICIAL

What does it mean to be a careful driver?
"The careful driver is always considerate of the occupants of his own car," said A. S. Ralph, manager of the Automobile club of Orange county. "As well, he is always considerate of the drivers and occupants of all other cars. His watchword is carefulness. He does not take chances. He watches the other fellow. He slows up and makes turns gradually, carefully giving arm signals before beginning to turn. He does not rush madly up to a corner, come to a sudden stop and then throw out his hand to signal, but comes to a gradual stop, giving the correct arm signal in plenty of time for the man behind to take care of himself."

THEO. GOWDY SELLS TO GEORGE F. NASH

George F. Nash, for nine years in the tire game, has bought the tire and accessories business and service station at 817 East Fourth street from Theo. Gowdy, known among motorists as "Howdy" Tiro Gowdy. Gowdy has been in the auto tire business here for eight years, two years at 817 East Fourth, and has enjoyed a good business. He is selling out that he may devote his time and attention to his ranch.

Nash, during the past two years, has become well known among Southern California dealers as a tire salesman, making his headquarters in San Diego. "I feel that my experience with tires and accessories in the larger selling end will enable me to sell to advantage in the retail trade," said Nash. "I believe in service and in guaranteeing articles that I sell. My place is to be open from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m., every day, Sundays and holidays included. My business is to be known as the George F. Nash Service Station."

CLUB'S BUREAU GIVES TIP TO DUCK HUNTER

Lack of Rain So Far This Season Delays Migration of Birds, Claim

Ducks on the Pacific coast generally migrate on a heavy north-west wind which many times follows a rain storm, and since there have not been any storms this season on the coast, duck shooting in the past three weeks has only been fair, says the outing bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California, in a report that Elmer Heidt, manager of the Santa Ana branch, has just received here. "Hundreds of requests for information dealing with sporting questions," said Heidt, "are pouring into this recently established bureau of the club and for the benefit of all motorists who wish to know exactly how shooting conditions stand, the bureau has issued the following statement:

Migration Delayed.
"Duck and quail shooting has been better the first two weeks of this season than in several years but the fair, mild weather for the past three weeks has held the ducks from migrating."

"The rice fields north of Sacramento are infested by millions of ducks and geese, but this territory is so large, however, that it is almost impossible to get a good shot as the birds have no regular flights and scatter over miles of territory. On days when a heavy north wind blows, good bags of both ducks and geese are easily obtained but unless you strike one of these windy days your bag is liable to be small."

"The ducks at our local lakes and marshes have become gun-shy and wise from being continually shot at and as a result small bags are about all you can expect."

Quail Hard to Get.
"Quail shooting is getting to be hard work as the birds have been unmercifully hammered and as a result have gone to the tall brush and steep hills."

"Quail shooting is about over for this season, unless you get some kind farmer to turn you loose on some of his protected coverts."

"Duck shooting will improve after a general rain storm followed by a heavy northwester."

"The best duck shooting during the past week was had in the Imperial valley, Moreno reservoir, Cuyamaca lake and Baldwin lake. Quail shooters may get fair shooting at Bonsall, Oak Grove, Sage, Banning, Palo Verde and Coachella valleys."

"Call up the Automobile club if you desire additional information."

TAKES 'SANTA' ROLE, BARES GIFT HINTS

Question of What to Give Dad Easily Solved, Is View of Davis

Introducing Herbert O. Davis, secretary of the Orange County Automobile Trades association, in the character of right-hand man to Santa Claus.

Sounds rather far-fetched, you say?
Not a bit of it. Just listen to what Davis, has to say:

"Now that Christmas is coming and you are thinking about something to give Dad and the boy and your best boy friend and anyone who has an automobile, just step into the nearest accessory store and you will find a million and one things that would please the male member of the family a thousand per cent better than the time honored necktie or felt slippers, or the silk socks of uncertain hue."

Car Part of the Family
"You know that every member of the household thinks of the car as a part of the family, but Dad and the boys think more of it than anyone else and are always trying to 'doll it up' and make it look better."

"There are literally thousands of things sold in automotive accessory stores that make fine gifts for Christmas and that will be appreciated all year round. Think how much trouble you will save Dad if you give him an electric warming device to heat the gasoline before it goes into the carburetor, so that he can start the car without stepping on the starter until the battery is almost exhausted. These devices come in many styles to fit almost any car, and sell for small cost."

Other Gifts Available
"Then there is the rear sight mirror, that will save much trouble in passing other cars on the road, and keeping track of speed cops, too. A bumper may save a new set of headlight lenses and smashed headlights, and a fender or two. A motometer will keep track of the temperature of the motor and save a burned out bearing, and it adds to the appearance of the car, too."

"There are far too many cars in operation without a spare tire. Note how many spare tire racks you see on cars running along the streets right now. A spare tire may save coming home on the rim some of these cold nights."

"There are any number of things that will solve the problem of 'what to give Dad' and make him happy, too."

'JUST ANOTHER NASH' INVADES FAMOUS WATERLOO BATTLEFIELD

The Nash car shown here stands quite close to the spot where Napoleon went down to defeat. This historic point is only fourteen miles from the city of Brussels; on the south, and is a source of never-ceasing interest for tourists. The photograph was made by A. B. Gardner, a member of the faculty of Santa Ana high school. Gardner, owner of two Nashes, is a strong booster for this dependable car.

ATKINSON NOW APPELBY S. A. BRANCH HEAD

Both Robert Atkinson and James E. Appleby are receiving congratulations from their friends and well-wishers on account of a transaction whereby Atkinson becomes manager of the Santa Ana branch of the Appleby Motor company, distributors of Durant and Star motor cars in Orange county.

The Santa Ana store will handle the southern portion of the county, while Appleby will devote his efforts to the northern portion, with headquarters at Anaheim.

Both men are regarded as motor car executives of high order and large experience and their combined efforts in marketing the fast growing and increasingly popular products of the Durant factories in this territory will undoubtedly result in marked success, it is believed.

Bob Atkinson is well and favorably known in Santa Ana, where for the past four years he has been identified with the automobile business as manager of the Reid Motor company, first as Chevrolet and later as Buick dealers in this territory.

Atkinson is one of the veterans of the industry, having begun with the famous old "White Steamers" in Los Angeles as far back as 1908. He is looked on as being familiar with the business in all its Waterloo may have stumped Napoleon, the doughty warrior who left a dingy apartment in New York to electrify Europe, but it holds no terrors for the expert driver of a dependable Nash, according to W. C. May, Nash distributor here.

May, who called attention to the fact that Nash sales for 1922 show a gain of 95 per cent over last year, points to the accompanying photograph and the statement of A. B. Gardner as proof of his contention.

Gardner, a member of the Santa Ana high school faculty, keeps in his family two Nash six touring cars.

"One of these I have driven with camping outfit all over California," says Gardner, who sent May the Waterloo photograph.

"My pilgrimages took me on both sides of the Sierras and among them, also all over Oregon and Washington, on both sides of the Cascades and among them. I have traversed with it in the same way a large part of Arizona, including the Apache trail, and then made the Salt Lake trip, scouring the wilds of Wyoming, thence to Yellowstone Park and through Montana and Idaho."

"I would not claim to have covered these roads and that mileage without an occasional hitch of minor sort, but I have yet to see a car that will take the long hard pulls and rough surfaces any more gracefully and confidently than does this particular car."

"This will explain the pleasure I found in meeting the car in the picture. It was on the battlefield of Waterloo, in August last."

"This historic point is only fourteen miles out of Brussels, to the south. The paintings and monuments there would give one a real thrill, and the lecturer on the ground tells the tourist just how Napoleon tried to stage a grand 'come-back,' but how Wellington won the day. Among scores of men and women present at the same time as myself I venture that none were more stirred than your writer."

"Yet there was an additional kick in it all at meeting on the old Wellington line the faithful 'get there Nash.'"

Santa Ana Leads
May points with pardonable pride to the fact that Santa Ana, holding the lead in Division G, eclipsed all other cities in point of sales in the class which includes cities of from 15,000 to 20,000 population.

"Nash showed a gain in sales

TELLS GROWTH OF CAL. AUTO TRADES BODY

Calling attention to the fact that in the short space of seven years, the California Automobile Trades association has grown from an organization of only four local associations to an organization that now covers the state, Herbert O. Davis, secretary of the Orange County Automobile Trades association, today cited the vast change for the better that has been wrought in the relationship between the motoring public and the garage-men.

"When automobiles were few and far between, the roads of this state were in about the same condition as the motor cars, and road signs were only thin boards stuck up by some kind farmer," said Davis.

"Then, as motor cars grew in numbers automobile clubs were formed to guard the interests of those who owned and drove automobiles."

Clubs' Growth Rapid.
"Those clubs have increased in size until they number their members by the thousands. The California State Automobile association and the Automobile Club of Southern California have grown to huge size with branches everywhere, and service that extends up and down the state."

"The purpose of the organization is to establish a higher plane of commercial integrity for those engaged in the automobile business and allied trades and through the application of better business methods to serve the owners of motor cars to a greater degree."

Big Change Wrought.
"In years past garages repaired cars and charged the car owner

Auto Club Head Declares He Has Received Numerous Complaints

TELLS OF ACCIDENTS

Says Company Should Equip Cars With Bright, New Lamps

Declaring that the Pacific Electric should be required to equip its North Main street cars with brighter and more distinctive headlights, and calling attention to the fact that cars are constantly threatened with injury or death through collision with the company's cars, Elmer Heidt, Santa Ana manager of the Automobile Club of Southern California, today was on record with a strong plea for additional safeguards on one of the city's principal thoroughfares.

"Within the last few months, we have had two very bad accidents on North Main street," said Heidt. "Both were due to collisions with street cars."

Crash Proves Fatal
"In one crash the driver of the automobile was killed almost instantly."

"Of course, I do not mean to say that motorists should not exercise due care in driving, for it is up to the motorist, just as it is up to the car company, to avoid accidents."

"The point I make, however, has to do with the hazard of driving along North Main street at night, with the street car's badly equipped with headlights, as at present."

"My own observation has been, and others will bear me out in this, that a peculiar condition exists as far as the car lamps are concerned. Perhaps there is something mysterious about it, but the fact remains that scores of drivers have told me they find it exceedingly difficult to distinguish the car until they are virtually 'on top' of it."

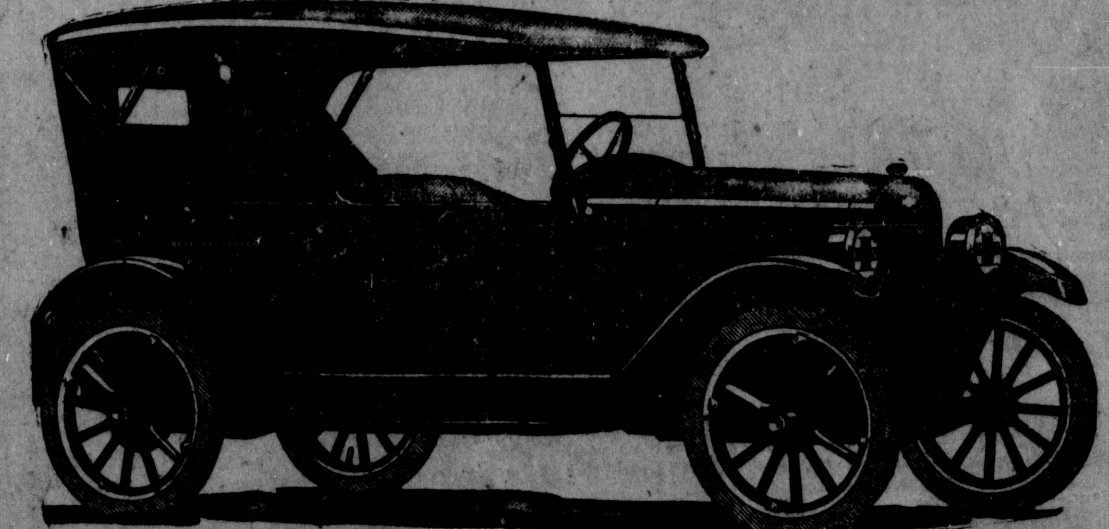

"This may be due to a number of causes. It may be that the new lighting system on Main street makes it harder to pick out the dull glow, of the trolley car's headlight."

Remembers Auto Light
"Again, I am told, the light resembles that of an automobile, seen at a distance. Many, turning out to pass another car, mistake the street car for an automobile, approaching from the opposite direction. Confident that the driver will turn out, they continue driving on the track. When they finally realize they are about to crash into a street car, they are almost too close to turn out in safety."

"With a myriad of lights gleaming ahead with the street lights adding to the confused blur, and with the street cars carrying no distinctive lights, it is not strange that so many of our friends and patrons are complaining about this menace."

Suggests Action
"One man has been killed and another quite seriously injured. Immediate steps should be taken to guard against similar accidents. At present, it is almost branches and is said to bring to his new work a ripe experience and a thorough knowledge of local conditions, beside a large acquaintance. He has devoted much time and energy in helping to build a strong organization among the dealers of Orange county and has served a term as chairman of the dealers' division and afterward as vice-president of the Automobile Trades association, but declined, for lack of time, to accept the presidency of that organization. In community service matters he is also active and is now vice-president of the Kiwanis club and is also a member of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

Atkinson said: "I am very proud to be associated with Jim Appleby, whom I consider one of the best automobile men on the coast, and to represent the products of a man who stands at the very head of the automobile industry in the manufacture and sale of motor cars. Anyone who has followed the successful career of W. C. "Nash gained eight per cent in September over August, while the rest of the industry, with one exception, fell off twenty-four per cent. These are significant facts. They explain the ever-growing popularity of this dependable car."

REGULAR INSPECTION OF IGNITION URGED

Regular inspection of the complete electric service system will save automobile owners both time and money, according to "Vint" Barrows, with West Brothers, 209 North Main street, next to the city hall.

He pointed out that his firm is giving free service in the inspection of batteries and wiring. Barrows, who has been in the electrical business eleven years, more than three of which in Santa Ana, says that he gives personal attention to such inspection.

SAVING SAM GROWS AS "AD" CHARACTER

Perhaps no trade character being used in the west is better known nor has a more definite significance to every person who may see him pictured than "Saving Sam" of the Western Auto Supply Company, according to J. W. Campbell, Santa Ana manager.

In the four years that "Sam" has been representing the "saving and service" policy of the company he has become almost a national character. Campbell said: "It was four years ago, that 'Saving Sam,' first appeared in an 'ad' for the company. He was a slender, bashful little fellow with a mop of black hair, pictured as pointing to a blackboard on which this message was written, 'Western Auto' is the largest retail auto supply house in the west."

"Since that time 'Sam' has appeared in public so much that he has overcome his bashfulness and taken on the air of a successful business man."

"He has grown a mustache, he has taken on weight, he sticks his chest out with the air of confidence."

"He has appeared in motor publications all up and down the Pacific Coast. The special merchandising sections of some large newspapers have referred to 'Sam' as a shining example of a successful trade character."

"Each week Sam appears in large ads of his company in more than 70 newspapers up and down the Pacific Coast and as far east as Denver and Phoenix."

POISON OAK EPIDEMIC STRIKES COUNTY 'AIL

The Orange county jail today was in the throes of an epidemic of poison oak infection. It was learned.

In No. 1 tank, there were seventeen suffering from the infection. In addition, seven from this tank were in the county hospital for treatment, their cases being more severe.

what the traffic would bear.

"Since the trade was organized and taught that charges should be fair, there has been a great change in the garage man's attitude. He is trying now to do things the way they should be done at a minimum cost to the car owner."

SLAUGHTERING DUCKS WITH MACHINE GUNS FOUR ARE ARRESTED

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 9.—Automatic shotgun equipped with special appliances which permit a sustained and concentrated fire similar to that of a machine gun, is the latest device for slaughtering wild ducks, according to George Neale, executive officer of the state fish and game commission.

Neale apprehended four men near Colusa today who killed 508 birds with a single burst of shot.

impossible to pick out the street cars. The front compartment of the car is so arranged that it cuts off the view of the lights within the car. All the driver sees is a dull light, which he may be excused for mistaking for an approaching automobile."

COLLEGE BOYS WILL HUNT FOR TREASURE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—No rough and ready pirates for this treasure hunt.

The bark Norwhal, which sails next month from San Francisco for the South Sea Islands, on one of the summer tours always conducted in the South Pacific in search for "buried treasure," will carry a crew of college graduates, Captain Charles Arey announced.

"We're going at this thing right," he said, explaining that he was confident that education was the key to all treasures of the world—including the treasure of pirate days.

BUMPERS—Every driver wants them because of their protection and because they add so much to appearance of a car.

SPEEDOMETER—The genuine Stewart speedometer for Ford cars is the standard and therefore a most acceptable gift.

INTERIOR MIRROR—A great convenience to the driver. We have several styles.

AERMORE HORN—These horns attach to the exhaust and give a musical chime note, gentle or strong as needed. Drivers like them.

SKID CHAINS—Sure, drivers need them at this season, and they make a mighty practical gift.

ROBES—Nice wool robes are acceptable for a small car as well as a large one. And would be appreciated at Xmas.

GLOVES—Gloves and gauntlets for both ladies and men who drive. Let us show you.

AUTO THEFT SIGNALS—Good protection against theft, and needed by every car owner. A good gift.

FLOWER VASES—Especially nice in the enclosed cars that are so popular.

FLASHLIGHTS—Handy anywhere and time, but especially around the car. See our big assortment.

LOCKING RADIATOR CAPS—They do look nice—these Deluxe radiator caps—and lock so they can not be stolen.

SET OF SPARK PLUGS—Every driver likes some extra plugs. Name the car and we show you the right plug.

MOTOMETER—A beautiful accessory for the car, and useful because it tells just what conditions in the motor are. A dandy gift.

Saving Sam's Tip.

Maybe some of you women folk think that a wrench or some other common item for the car would not be much of a Christmas gift, but you try dolling one up in some tissue paper and ribbon and then watch "Dad," or the boy, look it over with real appreciation when he unwraps it. I know.

RIGHT OF WAY FOR SERVICE MEN'S MEMORIAL IS OFFERED

Under an agreement reached yesterday, work is to begin at once in preparing the ground for planting of Orange County's Memorial drive.

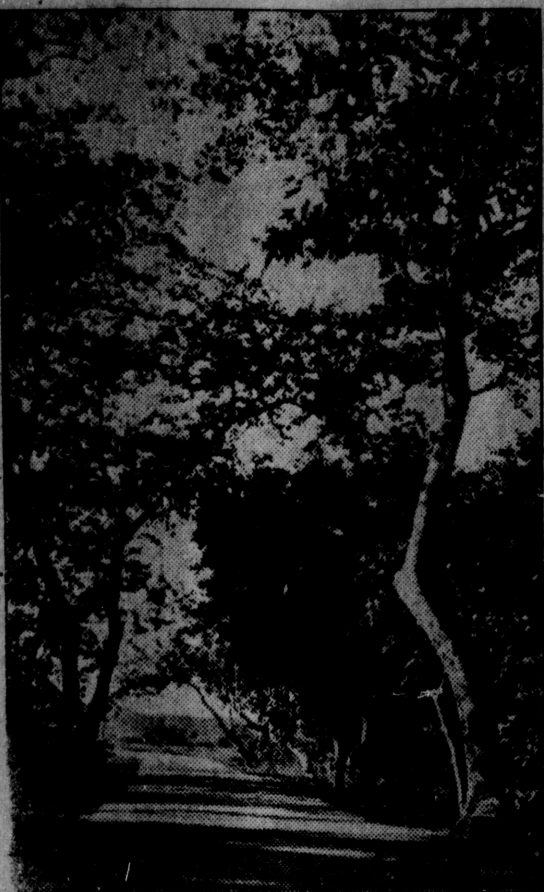

Next Sunday Boy Scouts will plant oaks along a portion of the drive. It is planned that these oaks shall become a testimonial to the regard with which Orange county holds the memory of service men who lost their lives during the World War.

At a meeting of the Memorial drive committee, appointed by the board of supervisors and the county Boy Scout organization, yesterday, the Irvine company, through Jas. Irvine Jr., offered to give the county an easement for memorial drive.

At present the company has an easement for the Here is picture taken along portion of highway use of sixty feet near the county park to be maintained as Memorial for road purposes.

The Irvine company will increase the right of way to eighty feet with an easement for the planting and care of the trees and shrubs to be planted.

Under the direction of Robert C. Northcross, trees and shrubs now on hand are to be planted by the Boy Scouts. Scouts are to take care of the strip.

The portion of highway to be maintained as a Memorial drive lies along the paved road beginning at the entrance of the county park, in Santiago canyon, reaching westward to the top of the grade on to the mesa.

TO HEAR TALK BY VOCATION EXPERT

"If you had a million dollars to spend you would plan how to spend it."

"Is your boy or girl worth a million dollars?"

Such statements as these, it was said here today, will probably mark the opening of an address to be given in the high school auditorium Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock by Chester M. Sanford, nationally recognized vocational educational expert.

Monday night's lecture is the third of the series of city teachers' institute meetings and will be open to the public, it was announced.

The junior high school orchestra and glee clubs will furnish the musical program which will precede the lecture.

After years of experience with industrial workers and of study in all angles of the field, Sanford is able to give lectures that are full of the most expert advice that can be given to young people and to the fathers and mothers of school children who are debating the vital question of the choice of a vocation, it was said.

"The Failure of the Misfit," or "You and Your Job" are the popular titles used by Sanford.

It was said of this speaker that after a whirlwind lecture full of terse, well-directed advice and warnings, he jumps from the platform and converses with his meeting in a round table for discussion and never fails to be immediately surrounded by crowds of boys and girls and their parents.

PAIGE IS LAUDED IN LONDON TIMES

A solid column of reading matter in The Times, of London, England, was recently devoted to an American car, the Paige, an unusual distinction for an made car to win in the pages of the Thunderer, most conservative of British newspapers, according to word received here.

The article, written by a Times staff writer on motoring, gave an account of a test ride over a difficult and hilly highway with the writer at the wheel. The car had been driven only 200 miles and was still "on the stiff side," making its performance all the more interesting.

"In the Paige catalog," says the Englishman, "I found a rather neat expression—namely, that the car is capable of taking the discouragement out of the roads and hills. It may justly be said that the remark fits the Paige very closely."

"With a full load in the four-seated body I turned the corner out of the main street of High Wycombe on to the Amersham hill, and without any change of gear, set the car at the one in nine gradient. The Paige went over the crest without a change of gear and with no sign of engine distress. The minimum speed recorded at any period was 16 miles an hour. This performance can be considered distinctly satisfactory."

"The degree of flexibility of the motor is high. I was able to throttle down to three or four miles an hour and make a clean, quick pickup."

let, Canned Fruit or Marmalade

Year 'Round Comfort at a Modest Cost The 1923 Buick Four Sedan—$1395

The new Buick four cylinder, five-passenger sedan has every convenience and comfort of the finest closed car—and at a price that fits the purse of the average family.

The Fisher-built body is trimmed and upholstered in fine plush with hardware of a handsome pattern. Wide doors with large plate glass windows, adjustable to any position, give easy access to the roomy compartments. Silk shades, a soft dome-light and fine carpeting are all of a quality found only in higher priced closed cars.

The lower body and higher radiator and hood, give this sedan a distinguished appearance that is heightened by the crown fenders, drum type head and parking lamps.

Marked refinements in the chassis and in the famous Buick Valve-in-Head engine increase the riding comfort and add materially to the inherent Buick qualities of dependability and performance.

Convenient Gear Shift Lever
In all of the 1923 Buick models the gear shift lever has been lengthened, bringing it up to the level where the driver's hand will rest naturally when released from the steering wheel. Changing gears can be done quickly, without bending forward or groping for the lever.

ORANGE COUNTY NEWS

GARDEN GROVE GRID TEAM HONORED

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 9.—One of the happy social events of the season was the reception for the high school football team, held at the Garden Grove hotel Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Lions club, as a fitting climax to a most successful football season for the high school players.

At 7 o'clock the football players and members of the Lions club were seated at the long banquet table in the dining room of the hotel. It was one of those famous Wilcox chicken dinners, and for over an hour there came a procession of dishes filled with good things and served in a way that would have tempted the appetite

of a king, to say nothing of the healthy appetite of a group of human football players; and they were tackled by everyone present without coaching, from chicken in delicious gravy to ice cream.

Dr. C. C. Violett presided as toastmaster, and in well-chosen words introduced the speakers. J.
M. Woodworth gave a most helpful talk, explaining some of the elements that made for the success of the team and of those that will make their future success and of the fact that football was not only a game but a character builder.

Coach Spring was next introduced, who in turn, introduced the members of the football team and gave a brief resume of the various qualifications of each player during the season just closed.

J. G. Allen also gave an interesting address, in which he extended congratulations to the team for the splendid record they made this year.

Mark Morrill, representing the football boys, was the next speaker. He gave a brief summary of the team's activity since the inception of the advancement made in spite of obstacles, and predicted a better team next year than the past has been.

H. A. Lake, a former star on the Wisconsin college grid eleven, entertained with reminiscences of his experience as a player on a college football team, and of the importance of living a clean, healthful life.

His remarks were followed by an inspiring address by R. R. Miller of Santa Ana, also a former football player, who related many amusing experiences also touched on the necessity of co-operation on the sidelines as well as the teams' interest, the effect of football on school spirit, and closed his remarks by stating that a good football team was one of the inestimable assets to a town from an advertising standpoint.

At the conclusion of his remarks each member of the team was presented with his letter by A. D.
Hoenshel, principal of the high school.

A. W. Elmisle, of Huntington Beach, was then introduced and gave a talk on "Lionism," his remarks being coupled with several amusing anecdotes.

Headed by their yell leader,
Mark Morrill, the football boys then arose and "put across" some snappy yells. A delightful feature of the evening was the Lions' club male quartette of Huntington Beach, each number they sang receiving unstinted applause.

The main theme of the confer-of Chicago and Arthur Rugh, general secretary from China, gave a splendid address.

A devotional period on "Tuning in With God" opened the morning session, and fifteen boys raised their hands for the first in answer to the question of who would like to "tune in" for God.

The people of San Diego treated the boys royally. Turkey suppers and chicken dinners, and entertainment by the U. S. Navy, were all a part of the city's program to give the boys a good time.

Next year's conference will be held in Pomona. More than forty boys are now members of the "Y" in Placentia. They are banding themselves together to discourage the use of cigarettes and

PLACENTIA GETS BIG SHIPPING COMPANY

PLACENTIA, Dec. 9.—That Pla-centia is recognized by the large-est shippers of citrus fruits in California as the best valencia district in Orange county and therefore in the state is again demonstrated by the opening of an office in room number eleven in the Kramer building, by the Randolph Marketing company, who expect to market many cars
out of Placentia during the coming season.

H. S. Ross, who is in charge of the Randolph business here, states that a considerable acreage of the finest groves in the district has already signed up with them.
This company features the well-known Bull Dog and Terrier brands and plans to market most of the fruit entrusted to them from Placentia under those labels.

The present owners of the Randolph Marketing company enjoy a heavy f. o. b. business, from the houses of the Nash or plantations which are located in many of the western and northwestern states,
and in three provinces of Canada.
They purchased the old Randolph fruit company from W. O. Randolph in 1916.

BUENA PARK, Dec. 9.—A company of 25 or more of the Buena Park farm center people met and together attended the Cypress center meeting on Tuesday evening in the new Cypress school auditorium.
The meeting was well attended and a lively interest taken in the business of the evening.

Six of the ladies volunteered to assist in the canvass for home department members. The Buena Park delegation reported the ladies were quite unanimous at the Park in their desire for the department.

The Buena Park Women's club

tional matters.

The club voted to offer a prize
to the eighth grader of the Buena Park school writing the best essay on the history of California. The essay receiving the first prize is to be read at the May meeting of the

LAUDS WORK OF TAUBMAN CLASS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 9.
—Mayor C. A. Buffum of Long Beach, was the principal speaker at the banquet given by the Men's Community Bible class at the Del Mar cafe last evening. Ray Ober-sey was the toastmaster and is president of the class. The banquet was given in honor of the Rev. "Jim" Hurst the new pastor of the Christian church, who is the leader and teacher. Rev. R. Porter, pastor of the Christian church of Santa Ana, was the first speaker, and told of the wonderful work that is being done all over the United States by similar classes.

Mayor Buffum spoke at length
on the work which the Taubman Bible class is doing, and how it has grown from about fifty earnest and enthusiastic workers until today it has an attendance as high as 3300 at times. He lauded the splendid work of the Rev. George Taubman and encouraged those present in their work, saying that there is no reason why Huntington Beach could not have a class as influential and as large in proportion to the size of the community as has Long Beach. He said he would watch the growth of this work here with interest.

CAPISTRANO PLANS XMAS FESTIVITIES

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Dec.
9.—On the evening of December 22
there will be at the Capistrano high school a community Christmas tree for the pleasure and entertainment of the entire valley. Mrs.
William Magee will offer a unique program from the Women's club of Capistrano, and the grammar school students will give several playlets, typifying Christmas spirit, all under the direction of the teachers. A gift will be hanging on the tree
for every little tot in San Juan, and there will be lots and lots of candy for all of the grown-ups.

Mrs. William Magee will entertain the Women's club the coming Tuesday. Work will be done by the members preparing sacks of candy and small toys for the community Christmas tree.

On Saturday night, the 23rd, a costume ball will be held at Forester's hall. Plans are being put through to make the dance a success. Bud Ferris and his talented orchestra, from the Ambassador hotel, Los Angeles, will furnish the tuneful notes for the dancers. Everybody is expected to come in costume, but unmasked. Those who were present last year to the grand ball held in February, will remember the gala time that prevailed, and this will be more unique and snappy than the last, so don the rags of the Yuletide cheer and pass a night of sparkling bliss and safety.

WESTMINSTER HOME LOOTED BY ROBBERS

WESTMINSTER, Dec. 9.—Additional details of the robbery perpetrated at the home of Willis Warner, Thursday night were available today revealing one of the boldest coups that has been executed here in some time.

It appears that Mr. and Mrs.
Warner were spending the evening with friends in Huntington Beach, and returned home about eleven o'clock. Mrs. Warner entered the house first, her husband being occupied with the car outside. Upon entering she was confronted with the sight of two men in the act of looting the house of its valuables.

She screamed the alarm, and the robbers made a rapid getaway through the back door with their loot, escaping across the next lot to their machine waiting nearby.

Upon investigation it was found they had made a good haul, having secured two valuable Liberty bonds, a gold watch, a new suit valued at $60, a quantity of silverware and clothing.

The authorities believe it was the work of two Mexicans, of whose identity they are aware,
and interesting developments are anticipated.
